POLICE APPOINTMENT.

Ex-chief Insp. Tunbridge, of Scotland Yard, has just been appointed Chief Commissioner of Police in New Zealand. His salary is to be £250 a year, rising to £280. Until a comparatively recent period Mr. Tunbridge was one of the best-known police officers in the metropolitan force. He was attached to Scotland Yard for many years, and in exposing frauds and bringing desperate characters to justice had few, if any, equals. It was him who was chiefly instrumental in securing the conviction of that notorious forger, the "Nail Head." About 2 years ago Mr. Tunbridge retired from the Metropolitan Police on a full pension. Since then he has been engaged in building operations at Hythe, where he has capital invested. He will proceed at once to New Zealand to carry out the duties of the important office just conferred upon him.

MYSTERY AT DEPTFORD. THREE MUMMIFIED CHILDREN DISCOVERED.

A GHOSTLY SECRET.
Considerable sensation has been caused in S. London by the discovery in a house in Blackhorse-road, Deptford, of a box containing the mummified remains of three children. The police were at once communicated with and the bodies removed to St. Paul's Mortuary. The house, 48, Blackhorse-road, Deptford, is occupied by a family named Blanchard, consisting of a father, son, and several grown-up daughters. They had known a woman, whose name they gave, for several years past, and one day last March she came to the door begging lodgings for herself and child for the night. They took her in, and allowed her to sleep in the kitchen with her little 7-year old girl, and she had been staying there under these conditions ever since. They knew that her husband and she were living apart.

and that she used to get 2s. 6d. a week for the child, but as to any other means she had of obtaining a livelihood no one in the house had the slightest knowledge. To complete the ghostly story she is stated to have died about 40, and to have been a girl, 13, and the youngest child before-mentioned. According to the story told circumstantially by the sisters Susan and Nellie Blanchard, and corroborated by a Mrs. Proudly, another neighbour, there has been some little excitement in the house for some time past, owing to the existence of a LOATHSOME SMELL.

and last Sunday week Susan Blanchard, having occasion to go into the front bedroom on the ground floor, noticed for the first time a wine box under the bed. She called to remove it, as it was so heavy, but just then, it is stated, the other woman lodger came in, and, claiming the box, carried it to the wash-house in the back yard. The inmates of the house appear to have thought nothing of this, and the incident, and the circumstances were apparently forgotten when, on Monday last, Mrs. Proudly, having occasion to go to a cupboard on the ground floor landing and near the entrance to the back yard, came across the wine box. The box was then found to contain the dead bodies of three mummified babies. One of the bodies was wrapped in a table-cover, and the remains were in a piece of curtain. The child was a female, and the remains were, at the mortuary, examined by Dr. Taylor, the divisional police surgeon.

INQUEST AND VERDICT.
At Deptford, Mr. Wood held the inquest on the three children unknown, whose decomposed remains were found as stated above. Great interest was centred in the inquiry, the court being crowded. The coroner stated that the bodies were in such a decomposed state that it had been impossible for the doctor to ascertain whether they had been born alive or not. The woman, Jane Amos, who was supposed to be in some way connected with the case, was not present. She was undergoing a term of imprisonment for neglecting her children, and the coroner of Holloway had written to the coroner that she could not be let out of prison other than by a writ of habeas corpus.

PROBABLE AGES.
Dr. Taylor spoke to examining the bodies at Blackhorse-road, and to making a post-mortem examination. He labelled them A, B, and C. The third body (C) had evidently been dead several months. It was a male, and there was an entire absence of all internal organs. Body B was all doubled up. It was a female, and had been dead for 10 months or so. The skull of the third body (A) was all flattened on the left side. Its sex could not be determined, and it had evidently been dead 2 or 3 years. The coroner, in summing up, said the whole case was a most mysterious one. They had had all the evidence they had been able to adduce, in the absence of Amos, and all the jury could do would be to return a verdict of found dead, leaving the case in the hands of the police.—This was accordingly done.

CRUELTY TO A CHILD.

A MOTHER BEATEN BY A MOTHER'S HAND.
Jane Amos, 44, no home, formerly living at Blackhorse-road, Deptford (where she had been for 10 months or so), was charged early in the week, under circumstances reported above, was charged on remand at Greenwich with neglecting her child, Elizabeth, aged 6 years. Mr. Phillips prosecuted.—Sarah Thorne, of Blackhorse-road, Deptford, said she had known prisoner for 3 or 4 years. Up to a few months ago she lived next door. She had a child called "Lizzie" (Elizabeth), who had lately been living with Mrs. Blanchard. The baby had been allowed to run the streets, and was in a filthy condition.—Prisoner: It was left in charge of my child's head was very dirty.—Prisoner: Oh, indeed? How often did I go out? Not once in 6 months. I have always done the best I could for you and for everyone else.—Witness said prisoner was a DIRTY WOMAN.

The neighbours used to give the child food, and witness often did so out of charity. She had had to take the child to her mother at public-houses when they wanted to go to bed, as prisoner's door was locked.—Ellie Blanchard, single woman, of Blackhorse-road, said prisoner lived at their house from Christmas until last week. Prisoner used to be out by day and return at 12.30 at night. The child was left in the house, and witness and her father used to go home drunk.—Prisoner: Oh, there, you fetch your father up.—Witness, continuing, said the child's face was clean, but prisoner took

On Monday week she had pawed some clothes and said she was going to get them out. She was returned late at night drunk, and was refused admittance.—P.C. Gant deposed to the arrest of prisoner on July 14. She was sleeping in a doorway with the child, who was in a dirty condition and was cold. He had seen prisoner in several out of public-houses, and on Saturday, when prisoner was not out on Saturday.—Mary Ann Firby, superintendent of the receiving ward of Greenwich Workhouse, said the child was admitted shivering. She was terribly dirty, and was in a dreadful state.—Prisoner made practically no answer to the charge, merely saying that she had been a slave to other people.—Temp. Chown said that 3 years ago he had cautioned prisoner as to the care of her children.—A mother's hard labour.

THE POONAH OUTRAGES.

The outrages at Poona, on June 22, are gradually being detailed. At the time of the Jubilee at Government House, Ganeshkhind, the governor's residence, about 5 miles from Poona, a State banquet and reception were held. The road thither is long and dark, and, in part, completely covered by an avenue of trees. On the hill facing the main entrance to Ganeshkhind d f fireworks were let off, and a large bonfire lit. On the hill, the British officers, Mr. W. C. Rand, the Special Plague Commissioner (who had roused the ire of the native press by the persistent manner in which he had carried on the search for plague cases hidden in houses), and Lieut. C. E. Ayer, Commisariat Department, were shot through the back. Lieut. Ayer died at once; Mr. Rand died on July 3. The Government has offered Rs. 20,000 for the discovery of the murderers. Mr. Rand, who was educated at Dulwich and Balliol College, Oxford, joined the Civil Service in 1870. He held many posts under Government, the last being that of Special Plague Commissioner at Poona. He was frequently threatened, but practically disregarded the threats and steadily carried out his duty. He leaves a widow and 3 children.

A MURDEROUS STORY.
An extraordinary story has appeared in the "Bangabasi," a disreputable paper, which is published at Chander nagor, in French territory, in which the British Police authorities are alleged to have allowed to pass through the door of a house in the town. It is alleged that two Bengali circus-riders were ordered to descend from the train at Khana, and that a young doctor and an assistant invited them to a house. On the women's refusal the doctor is stated to have ordered them to the observation camp, where an attempt was made to assault them. It is added that the screams of the women attracted attention, with the result that they were rescued. The whole story is perfectly ridiculous, as these circus-girls belong to a notorious class.

The first half-yearly report of the East to West Ry. Co. since the line was opened states that the gross revenue has been £16,814, and the working expenses £9,679.

SURREY v. KENT.
Following up their successful battle of Friday afternoon by some excellent bowling and fielding, Surrey at the Oval, gained a very slight edge over Kent by the score of an innings and 168 runs. Little interest remained in the game, as Kent were in a practically hopeless position, having lost one batsman for 47 runs, and a wicket, and still to avoid being bowled in a single innings. As the weather was charmingly fine and there was a better attendance than might have been expected. With the ground still in splendid condition, Kent were rendered fairly good account of themselves, but never at any time did they look like saving the game. In the early part of the day, Livsey, Stewart, and Mounsey played exceedingly well, but for the fall of the sixth wicket Martin and Wright remained together for an hour and a quarter, and put on 82 runs. Also Hearne, owing to a slight strain, did not play. The first innings came to an end just after half-past three for 132. Martin took his bat for a capital 57, which were 84 & 39s and 22s. Though they had little the best of the day's cricket, the Surrey men afterwards showed quite their best form, and fully deserved their success.

M.C.C. AND GROUND V. PHILADELPHIANS.

After 8 days' fairly interesting cricket, the M.C.C. beat the Philadelphians at Lord's 112 runs. Some such result as this was expected from the position of the two sides on day nine, when Maryland, with 2 wickets left, were 343 runs ahead. In about half hour Gifford and Heame added 36, and the M.C.C. closed their innings, putting Philadelphia down by 120 rather than 100 runs. Of course, no one expects them to achieve this feat; but with the pretty good, most people thought to have been better than they did, the Philadelphians were out in a little over 2 and a half for 122. The best thing in batting was the capital innings of Leeson who made his 71 in a little over 70 minutes. He had three fours and seven fives. The Philadelphians suffered by the absence of Patterson who had hurt his hand fielding on Vauxhall. Trotter again bowled well and he recovered the match was 13 wickets for 170 scores.

LEICESTERS V R.V. DERRYSHIRE.

As seemed highly probable from the position of the game at the close of play on Friday evening, the Lancashire eleven at Leicester succeeded in gaining their first victory in the county competition by defeating Derrysire by 5 wickets. With 187 at stake to win, the home team had at the drawing of stumps on Friday scored 164 of the number for the loss of only one wicket, and though they were dismissed when all runs had been added to the overnight total, Marriott and King played steadily and carried the score to 91 before the former was bowled. King was out at 117, but Marriott and Coe put on a brilliant partnership, the latter completing his 50 in a little over an hour. Just before the finish Coe foolishly ran himself out, and Gerson and Tomlin were together when at 90 the winning hit was made. Full score as follows:

RUSSEY vs. HAMPSHIRE.
Hampshire were in a hopeless condition when play ceased at Brighton on Friday evening, and yesterday they suffered a further defeat at the hands of Russes by an innings and 176 runs. Going in after lunch on Friday to face the big total of 428 put together by Russes, the Hampshire batsmen were the creation of A. J. L. Hill and one or two others, failed diamally before the bowling of Tate and Bland, and when they flew on to the bat they were met by the fast bowler and lost four wickets in their second innings for 32 before the close. This yesterday morning, with 110 runs on the board, they were reduced to five wickets to fall, they were then bowled out for 138 in their third innings defeat. W. Andrews, who had given the most assistance to the Hampshire batsmen, was bowled out by A. J. L. well-known runners, who had been matched to contest for $100 a side. Betting ruled at 15 to 1 on Watkins. When the race was under way, Hurst was in the lead, but he was not far ahead of Watkins. Hurst went to the front, and led for 44 miles, when he almost stopped for Watkins to go by, and the pair were in close company at 5 miles, on account of which this time the betting was in favor of Hurst. Hurst's time when the latter made his record. The pace now began to tell. Hurst was leading at 61 miles, but at 61 miles he was very close to the front. Hurst again passed his opponent, and just after covering 64 miles he about went up to the front. Hurst was in the lead, and it was seen that Watkins was in a bad way, and the latter stopped.
